INTERNSHIPS

Internshala | April 2023 - May 2023

- In this we have given to make a responsive whether application which take an input city and show the whether information of this city and also to show the famus picture of this city in background.

In this we use HTML, CSS, Javascript and one free whether API which give the response in json format. we have to extract the json file and update in UI

PROJECTS

YourLibrary | September 2024 - October 2024

- This web app allows users to search for books and view detailed information about them, using a sleek and responsive interface powered by modern web technologies. Users can input a book's title, author, or genre into a search bar to retrieve related books from a robust external API. Once a book is selected, they can view its full details, including the title, author, description, publication date, and more.

PassWord Generator Using React.JS | September 2024 - September 2024

- The SecurePass password generator is a user-friendly, responsive web application built with ReactJS and styled using Tailwind CSS. It allows users to generate secure, random passwords based on customizable criteria such as length, inclusion of uppercase and lowercase letters, numbers, and special characters. The app is designed with a clean and modern UI, making it easy for users to create strong passwords for enhanced security.

BlogPost Application | September 2024 - September 2024

- This project is a dynamic and responsive Blog Application built using ReactJS as the front-end library, with React Router to handle seamless navigation between different blog posts and pages. The application allows users to view a list of blog posts, read individual posts in detail, and navigate between pages smoothly.

YourJokes | September 2024 - September 2024

- This web app brings humor to your fingertips, offering a wide range of joke categories like science-related jokes, funny one-liners, and more. Powered by an external jokes API, the app allows users to explore, browse, and laugh at jokes from different genres. Whether you need a quick laugh or want to browse through a specific category, this app makes it easy to find and enjoy jokes.

ACHIEVEMENTS

- Top 3 in class, Department topper in Diploma
